What

What is the essence of the challenge?

I want to re-design/create the way to...

Who

Who is the primary user group?

The main target is ...

... and thereafter it also targets...

Why

What specific facts underpin the challenge?

Because right now...

... and in the future...

Good advice for your design challenge

- Be sure to define the challenge but not the solution space - e.g. narrow target audience, but not specific solution type or technology.
- Make sure the design challenge is not overly complex - is it actually multiple challenges?
- Choose a design challenge you are passionate about solving - it will be much easier to get your team onboard.
- Choose a design challenge with a human or business element - "optimize a website for mobile" is a technical challenge - "redesign the experience of [what the website is about] across devices" is a much better start for a design challenge.
