Concept description: .....

	Attraction The way the user first becomes aware of, and attracted to, the experience or service	Entrance Onboarding, where the user gets started with the experience or service	Engagement The phase where the user uses the experience or service	Exit The end of the use of the service or experience	Extension The way in which the user is pukked back to the experience or service, after completion of use
Detailed process Break your concept down in a process that describes the concept better than the 5 generic experience phases.
User stories for each phase Place all your user stories here, and make sure to assess each to which phase they belong individually.
Minimum Viable Product (MVP) Move the user stories you want to include in your upcoming MVP.
